PATHS Newsletter

PATHS Newsletters are distributed periodically to members of the PATHS program. They include updates on new and upcoming events, highlights of recent student and alumnus research, and other news and information that might be of interest to members of the PATHS community.

Academic Job Market Fall Series

The Academic Job Market Fall Series is a series of events designed to help graduate students and postdocs prepare for the academic job market. The series includes workshops on writing and presenting effective teaching statements, creating a compelling CV, and negotiating job offers. The series also includes a panel discussion with faculty members who have recently been hired on the academic job market.

Did You Know?

The graduate certificate in digital studies provides students with foundational knowledge in digital humanities, with a special focus on understanding and using digital tools for humanistic research. Get started with the September 2019 immersion course: Computational Concepts Using the Python Programming Language.

PATHS Programming Internships at UChicagoGRAD

The UChicagoGRAD programming internships are an opportunity for students to gain hands-on experience in computer science while working on projects that are relevant to the digital humanities. The internships are offered in collaboration with the DHCS and the Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Interns will work with researchers, scholars, librarians, and technologists in the humanities and computer science.

New Graduate Certificate in Digital Studies

The new graduate certificate in digital studies is a 15-credit interdisciplinary program that is designed to provide students with foundational knowledge in digital humanities, with a special focus on understanding and using digital tools for humanistic research. The certificate is open to graduate students in all disciplines and is available for full-time or part-time study.

Humanities Division Higher Education Intern

The Humanities Division Higher Education Intern position is available in the Division of the Humanities. The intern will work with the Dean of Students Office to assist with student recruitment efforts and other special projects. The position is available in the Fall Quarter.

Graduate Certificate in Digital Studies

The new graduate certificate in digital studies is a 15-credit interdisciplinary program that is designed to provide students with foundational knowledge in digital humanities, with a special focus on understanding and using digital tools for humanistic research. The certificate is open to graduate students in all disciplines and is available for full-time or part-time study.

Did You Know?

The new graduate certificate in digital studies provides students with foundational knowledge in digital humanities, with a special focus on understanding and using digital tools for humanistic research. Get started with the September 2019 immersion course: Computational Concepts Using the Python Programming Language.

PATHS Programming Internships at UChicagoGRAD

The UChicagoGRAD programming internships are an opportunity for students to gain hands-on experience in computer science while working on projects that are relevant to the digital humanities. The internships are offered in collaboration with the DHCS and the Graduate School of Library and Information Science. Interns will work with researchers, scholars, librarians, and technologists in the humanities and computer science.

Chicago Colloquium on Digital Humanities and Computer Science

The Chicago Colloquium on Digital Humanities and Computer Science is a bi-weekly series of talks and discussions on topics related to digital humanities and computer science. The colloquium is open to the public and is sponsored by the DHCS and the Graduate School of Library and Information Science.

Reading List

"Let Us Now Praise Famous Men" is a Pulitzer Prize-winning book by American author James Agee and photographer Walker Evans. The book is based on Evans' photographs and Agee's writings about a family in the Mississippi delta. Here is a reading list of books that explore the themes of rural life and the American South:

- "The Great Gatsby" by F. Scott Fitzgerald
- "Invisible Man" by Ralph Ellison
- "The Color Purple" by Alice Walker
- "The Encyclopedia of Southern Culture" edited by Daniel J. Boorstin

Subject to the PATHS Newsletter

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us at info@PATHS.uchicago.edu.